The Metamorphosis of the Kibbutz

Edited by Eliezer Ben-Rafael with Orna Shemer

Kibbutzim have recently gone through far-reaching changes that came up to no less than a metamorphosis. This volume investigates this transformation and what it teaches about developmental communalism, from utopian gemeinschaft-like communities to more gesellschaft-like associations.

READERSHIP: This volume is a collective endeavour of social scientists and historians of numerous fields. It is relevant to students and scholars in these areas as well to members and residents of communes and co-operative settings.

Geopolitics and International Relations

Grounding World Politics Anew

Edited by David Crikemans, University of Antwerp

Today's analysts of world affairs are often loosely referring to 'geopolitics', but do not always clearly define it. This book therefore offers a necessary introduction into the main components of geopolitical analysis, an overview of the main geopolitical schools of thought, as well as reflections on technology and geopolitics. In addition, empirical studies showcase innovative approaches.

Essay on Islamization

Changes in Religious Practice in Muslim Societies

Mohamed Cherkaoui,
National Centre for Scientific
Research and Sorbonne University

Essay on Islamization is a study of the Islamization of all Muslim societies and their conversion to orthodox Islam which, with its chapels, soldier monks and holy war, leads to fundamentalism as well as to a moral puritanism. Cherkaoui gauges the importance of this global phenomenon by analyzing the empirical data of some sixty Muslim and non-Muslim societies.

READERSHIP: All interested in Islam, changes in religious practice in Muslim and non-Muslim societies, conversion to orthodox Islam, secularization and atheism, their causes and consequences on geopolitical issues.

On the Psychology of Society; New World, and Contributions to Studies in the Realist Worldview

Alexander Bogdanov
Edited and Translated by David G. Rowley, University of Wisconsin-Platteville

In these polemical writings, Bogdanov refutes Russian Marxist revisionists, including Nikolai Berdiaev and Sergei Bulgakov, and offers his own defence of historical materialism and the labour theory of value. In so doing, he further elaborates and extends his empiriomonist worldview.

READERSHIP: All interested in the thought of Alexander Bogdanov, Russian intellectual history, Russian Marxism in the revolutionary era, and Marxian historical materialism and economic theory.

Forms of Collective Engagement in Youth Transitions

A Global Perspective

Edited by Valentina Cuzzocrea, Università di Cagliari, Ben Gook,
University of Melbourne, and Bjørn Schiermer, University of Oslo

This collection sheds light on diverse forms of collective engagement among young people. Recent developments in youth studies, and the changing global shape of socio-economic conditions for young people, demand new approaches and ideas. Contributors focus on novel processes, practices and routines within youth collectivity in various contexts across the globe, including Indonesia, Spain, Italy, Norway and Poland. The chapters pay particular attention to transitional phases in the lives of young people. Conceptually, the book also explores the strengths and limitations of a focus on collectivity in youth studies. Ultimately, the book makes the case for a focus on forms of collectivity and engagement to help scholars think through contemporary experiences of shared social life among young people.

READERSHIP: Researchers and advanced students in the areas of sociology, cultural studies, youth studies, social movements and globalization.

Hating Girls

An Intersectional Survey of Misogyny

Edited by Debra Meyers,
Northern Kentucky University, and Mary Sue Barnett, Association of
Roman Catholic Women Priests
(ARCWP)

Hating Girls provides an intersectional perspective that deconstructs the pervasive misogynies and gender-based violence against females and gender non-conforming people. The interdisciplinary analysis exposes the destructive, oppressive beliefs and practices inherent in our society and offers an equitable way forward.

READERSHIP: Hating Girls will serve Gender Studies and Religious Studies students as well as a general audience interested in the rape culture we find ourselves in today.

Constructing Change

A Political Economy of Housing and Electricity Provision in Turkey

Ezgi B. Ünsal, Kadir Has University

Capitalist Dictatorship

A Study of its Social Systems, Dimensions, Forms and Indicators

Milan Zafirovski, University of North Texas

In Constructing Change, Ezgi B. Ünsal provides a political economy of electricity and housing provision in Turkey. By using the case studies of electricity and housing in Turkey, the book explores how social provision is increasingly commodified across the globe as a defining feature of financialisation. Distinguishing this trend from macroeconomic definitions of financialisation, the book offers a contextual narrative of economic change in Turkey, with undetermined macroeconomic outcomes.

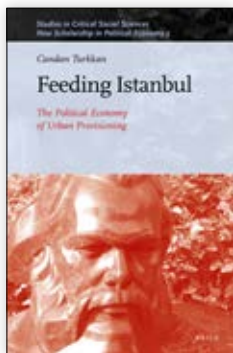

READERSHIP: All interested in financialisation, the political economy of Turkey and the political economy of social provision.

Gendering the Trans-Pacific World, 1

How are individuals socialized today? To answer these questions, a unique investigation has been carried out using two scales of analysis: the scale of the cosmopolitan world as well as the scale of everyday life and socialization to otherness.

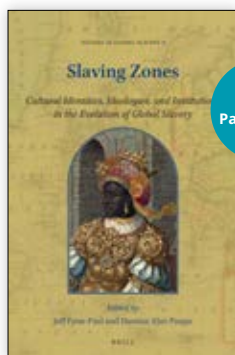

READERSHIP: Many aspects of the text may appeal to a wide range of readers — cultural theorists, students engaged in debates on representations of ethnicity or nationalism, global studies, cosmopolitanism etc.

Slaving Zones

Edited by Jeff Fynn-Paul,
Leiden University, and
Damian Alan Pargas,
Leiden University

Through engagement with the 'Slaving Zones' theory, our authors elucidate new and complementary ways in which identity, law, custom, political organization, and definitions of 'self' and 'other' have impacted the course of global slavery from ancient times through the present.

READERSHIP: In Slaving Zones, fourteen authors engage with the dynamic new 'Slaving Zones' theory, suggesting novel ways that institutions have contributed to the evolution of slavery in Global History.
